Holly Krier is a Director in the Los Angeles office of Welch Consulting. With over 30 years of experience in data analysis, Ms. Krier assists in a wide variety of class action and individual plaintiff matters involving claims of age, race and gender discrimination, misclassification, wage and hours issues such as meal and rest break compliance, and the calculation of California overtime payments. She has significant experience in the analysis of California regular rate issues, mortgage defaults, workday definition, and the computation of individual and class level economic losses with and without PAGA. Her work on meal and rest break matters and misclassification has involved using non-traditional sources of data such as GPS and phone records to address claims involving the number of hours worked in a day and the availability of meal and rest break opportunities. Prior to joining Welch Consulting, Ms. Krier worked for Recon Research, an economic consulting firm specializing in energy issues. Ms. Krier graduated Magna Cum Laude with a B.A. in Economics from the University of California at Los Angeles.
