

Associate Economist/Consultant Position

Job Description

We are seeking qualified applicants to work as quantitative analysts in our Los Angeles office. Associate Economists/Consultants manage, organize, and prepare data for analysis as well as produce statistical analyses, summary tables and data for production under the direction of Project Managers.

Successful candidates will have a Bachelor degree in mathematics, applied mathematics, economics, statistics or another field with a quantitative emphasis. Econometrics coursework is a plus. Experience in computer programming, particularly with statistical software packages, including Stata, is strongly preferred.

About Welch Consulting

Welch Consulting is the market leader in complex economic research and analysis of labor & employment issues. Our clients include major law firms and leading corporations throughout the U.S. and worldwide.

Welch Consulting employs more than a dozen Ph.D. level economists and experts; we work closely with our clients to develop a tailored approach to meet their economic analysis and risk-management needs. Our work in employment litigation, class action, and single-plaintiff cases includes analyses of discrimination claims under Title VII, the Equal Pay Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, and the Age Discrimination in Employment Act. We have extensive experience defending against EEOC and OFCCP investigations. We also specialize in evaluating wage and hour claims arising from alleged violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as well as claims pertaining to state labor laws (such as those specific to California and New York.)

Accessible, timely solutions, careful analysis and creative approaches - whether related to potential or ongoing litigation, monitoring efforts, or company diversity initiatives - are hallmarks of our services.
